

MEDIA SCAN

Tourism Industry Association of Nova Scotia

N.S. tourism sector has high hopes for summer season

After two years of relying on support from within the Atlantic bubble to keep them afloat, tourism operators in Nova Scotia are gearing up for what's expected to be a busy summer season.

Peggy's Cove Commission Remains On The Rocks

The PC government has removed a pair of ineligible members from the Peggy's Cove Commission but hasn't found replacements.

Harbour Bridges Borrows For Decade Of Repairs

Nova Scotia is lending the Halifax-Dartmouth Bridge Commission up to $155 million for bridge work.

Final plan for Scotia Fundy marine conservation won't be ready until 2024

DFO has completed consultations on draft plan, public will have say before plan finalized.

'Dear Rita' production at Savoy Theatre will honour Cape Breton's first lady of song

Rita MacNeil spent countless hours on stages around the world, but one of her favourite places to perform was the Savoy Theatre in Glace Bay, N.S.

At Grand Pre restaurant and inn, everything's changing except the pie

Avram Spatz put considerable thought into a title for his first real estate project, but it might not matter.

Attracting employees a common theme at meeting hosted by IGNITE

When Wes Surratt recently took on the role of business continuity and workforce development manager at the Pictou County Regional Enterprise Network, he thought a lot of his job would be focused on job creation.

Nova Scotia gas prices reach \$2 per litre in parts of province

Nova Scotia gas and diesel prices rose Friday, with the price of gas reaching $2 per litre in the Cape Breton area.

